GOOD FRIDAY COLLECTION FOR THE HOLY LAND

Christians around the world are united in a special way during Lent, Holy Week, and Easter. Parishes in the archdiocese are asked to take up a special collection on Good Friday (April 14) to support Christians in the Holy Land. Many Christians there depend on the collection for their lives. Franciscans and others in the Holy Land are feeding the poor, providing religious formation and education, maintaining shrines and parishes, and conducting pastoral ministry. The Good Friday collection is requested by the Holy Father. Please be as generous as you are able.

If you can help, sign up in the Gathering Space or contact Pat O'Connor, pjoconnor826@gmail.com or Tony Bosnick, (301) 840-1407, Ext. 11 or abosnick@sfdw.org. It was lots of fun last year. Lunch provided!

THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR

Two weeks ago I began what will be a series of columns on Being Catholic Today: Catholic Identity in an Age of Challenge, a Pastoral Letter that Cardinal Wuerl issued on May 24, 2015. The Cardinal identified five key themes of being a Catholic today. I want to devote this column to the second theme: The mission of the Church is to proclaim the Good News of God's kingdom. This was entrusted by Jesus to the Apostles and their successors the Bishops.

Jesus came to call sinners. If we are ever to be saved, we must admit our failures and seek the Lord's mercy and forgiveness. Though we sin, we cannot let our failures cloud the truth of Christ's teaching. We cannot let our sins form an excuse for rejecting the teaching and commands of God as being out of date, burdensome, or impossible to fulfill. Remaining in the truth means seeking forgiveness and teaching right from wrong so that people can find genuine freedom in Christ. His mission extends to the depths of our hearts, so that, trusting in the Lord's mercy, we can admit our failures. We move from sin to truth and freedom so that we can profess the Gospel. We have received something in the Church that is not ours. Indeed, the mission of the Church belongs to the Lord. As the Lord's faithful stewards, we are accountable to the Lord and not to contrary demands of the culture. We need to remain connected to the true mission the Lord has entrusted to us.

The mission of the Church is not limited to houses of worship but extends into the world through the ministry of charity. Charity, the love of God, is the public work of the Church, rooted in faith and manifest in the lives of all the faithful and through institutions. This mission of charity is a building block of culture. It is good to remember that Catholic schools began when our country did and that Catholic Charities is the largest private social service provider in Washington. Through acts of charity the Church has strengthened the family, cared for children, built schools, universities, and hospitals. The Church has contributed to social teaching that has addressed fair labor, markets and the environment. Christian charity differs from philanthropy in that the mission of Catholic institutions—and those who work for them—is to lead people to encounter Jesus. Catholics bear the marks of God's love. We are called to manifest the kingdom of God—not merely within our church buildings but also in the world—building up the common good. When we correspond to God's grace, we are extending the kingdom, we are able to be the image of Christ to all those we encounter—in his love, in his truth, in his mercy, and in his justice, making a gift of ourselves in service to communion with God and one another.

One final thought for this week: some years ago the late Cardinal James Hickey gathered a group of wealthy and influential Catholics to ask their support of a work that he wanted the Church to undertake. One of those present at the meeting asked Cardinal Hickey why the Church would ever want to do this work because the people being served weren't even Catholic. Cardinal Hickey answered that we as Catholics didn't serve those who were in need because they were Catholic. Rather, we served others because we were Catholic.

Until next week,

Lenten Parish Mission Speaker Challenges Parishioners to Strive for Holiness

Dr. Ralph Martin challenged attendees at the Lenten Parish Mission on March 24 and 25 to be active, mindful and disciplined in their pursuit of holiness, which is made more difficult given contemporary norms and media distractions.

“It’s always tempting to believe that there’s a better time in life where it will be more conducive to being holy,” said Dr. Martin, president of Renewal Ministries. “That’s an illusion –there is no better time than now. We need to let go and let God.”

The theme of Dr. Martin’s talks -- “Living as a Catholic in Challenging Times” – resonated in the sanctuary, where about 200 people on Friday night and Saturday morning gathered to hear one of the Church’s lay leaders in Catholic renewal and evangelization. Interspersing his insights with anecdotes from the lives of saints, such as St Teresa of Avila, St. Pope John Paul II, and St. Catherine of Siena, Dr. Martin covered a litany of subjects, ranging from the importance of acknowledging God’s grace to turning away from sin and temptation to staying the course in your spiritual life.

Divided into three talks, the two-day series started Friday with “The Times We Live In.” In that overarching session, Dr. Martin laid out that cultural forces, the proliferating media and human impulses keep people from hearing and acting in accordance with the Gospel. He pointed out that, even when Jesus encountered sinners, he extended compassion to them but expected them to repent.

“As a response to his compassion and mercy, Jesus expected repentance and a change in life,” Dr. Martin said. “It’s a very grave thing to squander the grace of God.”

The sessions on Saturday – “Called to be Witnesses: The Mission of Catholic Lay People” and “Called to Holiness: Me Be a Saint” – became a springboard for Dr. Martin to discuss how the Church’s members should strive for holiness. He emphasized the importance of establishing a routine of daily prayer; attending to the Lord; and blocking things that keep us away from Him. He also discussed the importance of not only rejecting serious sins, but also venial ones and temptations that harm our relationship with God.

Dr. Martin reiterated the importance of staying present with God – a task not easily done in the age of 24-hour news cycles and ubiquitous digital devices.

“Turn off the TV. Put down the phone,” Dr. Martin said. “We need to learn how to detach – we’re living in a culture of continuous distraction.”

Videos of Dr. Martin’s talks will soon be posted on the St. Francis of Assisi web site. For more information, contact Social Concerns Minister Tony Bosnick at abosnick@sfadw.org.

WALKING TO THE CROSS LENTEN PROGRAM

Meets Saturdays in Lent through April 15

9:30a.m. Gathering Space

Walking to the Cross is a 40-day devotional designed for the Season of Lent. It invites you to make walking, reflecting and prayer a part of your daily Lenten practice. Group gatherings on Saturday will begin with a psalm and the opportunity to set a "movement goal" for the week such as walking or another reasonable physical challenge for yourself.

Weeks 2-6 Group share about how their movement goal was met/not met/ successes and roadblocks, etc. Set Movement Goal for upcoming week. New Comers welcome.
