Scripture Corner

"GOD IS LOVE"

Jesus often uses parables to make his point. The advantage of a parable is that one must seek the meaning underlying the words. In today's Gospel, for example, (Matthew 20:1-16a) Christ speaks of a landowner and laborers, meaning God himself and his creatures.

The landowner hires workers at early morning, then more laborers at nine o'clock, at noon, at three PM, and even at five o'clock. He agrees with all of them to pay a just wage – at that time a denarius was seen as fair. But this leads to trouble! Those who had worked all day complained, "These last ones worked only one hour, and you have made them equal to us, who bore the day's burden and the heat." (Matthew 20:12)

This situation reminds me of a modern situation where a well-known criminal repented just before his death and was received back into the Church with reconciliation and Eucharist. Some people complained, but our Lord's answer has always been, "Am I not free to do as I wish with my own money?" (Matthew 20:15) The landlord explains that every worker had been treated justly, receiving a day's wage, the denarius. Jesus is always just and loving!

Christ wants his followers to realize that everyone is called by God. It is not as important when one responds to that call as to respond at some time in one's life. Saint John teaches, "God is love, and whoever remains in love remains in God and God in him." (1 John 4:16) In connection with today's Gospel we should note these words of John, "whoever loves God must love his brother." (1 John 4:21)

Isaiah says in today's first reading, "For my thoughts are not your thoughts' nor are my ways your ways." (55:8) Aware of the love of God, the Christian accepts both the generosity and the justice of God. Our Lord asks us today, "Are you envious because I am generous?" (Matthew 20:15) Envy is not proper for the followers of Jesus who should understand that every gift of God is due to his loving kindness, not to our ability or activity.

In their joint statement of August 29, 2017, Bishop Budde, Rabbi Lustig, Iman Shareef, and Cardinal Wuerl pointed out that nearly one million young immigrants have benefitted from the DACA program since its inception in 2012. They also noted that many of the program recipients are members of the respective faith communities they mentor in and around the nation's capital. They have seen firsthand the relief and pride in the faces of young people as they finally came to feel validated and safe in a program that made them feel more at home—in the only country they have ever considered home. But now, anxiety and fear for their future have returned.

They closed their joint statement with a collective prayer that in the coming months, Congressional leaders work together to pass sensible and comprehensive immigration reform that our country so desperately needs—including making the DACA program permanent. But until that time comes, they plead, the least our country can do is to continue supporting our dreamers.

Until next week.

Fr. John Dillon

THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR

I want to devote this column to a statement recently made by Cardinal Wuerl in light of the decision by the Trump administration to end the Deferred Actions for Childhood Arrivals program in its current form. Cardinal Wuerl issued the following statement on September 15, 2017 and addressed it to the priests of the Archdiocese:

Earlier this month, in the days before the Trump Administration announced its intent to Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program to expire in early 2018, I was pleased to join other religious leaders in calling for President and Congress to work together to, first and foremost, protect those young adults and children who registered under the DACA program, and second, to work together on a permanent solution to remove doubt and fear within our immigrant community. [The other signers of this statement, issued on August 29, 2017, included the Right Reverend Mariann Edgar Budde, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington; Rabbi M. Bruce Lustig, Senior Rabbi of Washington Hebrew Congregation; and Imam Talib M. Shareef, Masjid Muhammad, the Nation's Mosque.]

In a statement upon the Trump Administration's decision, I found it very regrettable and harmful that the administration made the decision to end the DACA program in its current form, and fully embraced the statement made by my brother bishops of the United States Catholic Conference on this matter. [I am happy to provide copies of Cardinal Wuerl's statement and the statement by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops to anyone who wishes to have a copy. Please contact me by phone or email to get a copy of either statement.]

Ours is an Archdiocese that has a well-established history of welcoming the newcomer in our midst and working to provide our new neighbors with the pastoral, material, and even legal support, that they may require. I remain hopeful in the coming months Congress and the administration will work to forge a permanent solution to DACA. But until then, it falls to us—in the absence of a clear resolution—to continue to stand with immigrant families, those young adults and children affected by the uncertainty of DACA, and anyone else in need. Parish communities should accompany our immigrant families with prayer, which can bring comfort and unity. We will continue to raise our voice in support of them and to work for permanent policies to ensure they remain a vibrant part of our church in Washington.

"SERMON ON THE MOUNT" COMES TO ST. FRANCIS ON SEPT 30 IN FAMILY-FRIENDLY PERFORMANCE

On Saturday, September 30, St. Francis parishioners will get to experience a live Biblical performance of "Sermon on the Mount" featuring TV and film actor Frank Runyeon at 7 p.m. in the church. Runyeon sets the famous sermon in a revealing new setting: as told by Matthew to the church in Antioch, shortly after the Roman army burned Jerusalem to the ground. Bringing Scripture to life, Runyeon moves around the church and shares the story, filled with surprising humor and dramatic transitions.

After "Sermon on the Mount," Runyeon will end the evening with "Hollywood vs. Faith," where he discusses the empty values the media is teaching us and the choices we face daily as Americans and people on faith.

This family-friendly performance is free to St. Francis parishioners, but at-will donations are appreciated. There is also no photography or video allowed during the performance, but Runyeon is available for photos and autographs during a reception following the performance. This is a great way to kick off the parish's 45th anniversary the following week!

For more information, contact Director of Religious Education Susan Anderson at sanderson@sfadw.org or Fr. Jack Berard, Parochial Vicar, at sfayouth@sfadw.org.

SIGN UP FOR SMALL GROUPS NOW TO EXPLORE YOUR FAITH WITH OTHER PARISHIONERS

It's not too late to sign up for Small Groups that will begin meeting next month. What is a Small Group? It is a gathering of five to 10 people, who typically meet weekly in homes to discuss their journey, deepen their Catholic faith and support one another in their relationship with Christ. In addition to four existing parish Small Groups – the Martha/Mary Women's Group, the Men of Emmaus, the Saturday Morning Spiritual Reading Group and the Scripture Study Class – St. Francis is launching four new Small Groups that address very different areas of our Catholic faith, but will hopefully, all lead to a closer, a more meaningful relationship with Christ. These are:

- Sunday Mass Preparation Small Group, which will meet to discuss the coming week's Mass readings and help participants be better prepared for Mass.
- Pivotal Players Small Group, which will view videos and discuss the Catholic Church's most influential people, including saints, artists, mystics and scholars.
- Psalmody, which will gather to pray together through ensemble singing and playing of instruments. Experience in singing is not required!
- Catholic Perspectives on the Vietnam War, which will view film director Ken Burns' 10-part series on the Vietnam War and discuss the impacts of the war on participants' lives and on Catholic social teaching.

To join a Small Group, sign up at the tables next to the Information Desk by Sunday, Sept. 24, or contact Small Groups Coordinator Alice Welanetz at awelanetz@gmail.com or call her at (301) 351-6706. For more information about Small Groups, pick up a Small Groups brochure at the Information Desk. You can also read more about St. Francis' existing Small Groups, including those associated with international faith formation movements, by going to <http://www.sfadw.org/adults-1>.

LAST CALL FOR PASTORAL COUNCIL CANDIDATES

If you would like to shape the future of St. Francis of Assisi Parish in a strategic way, then consider running for the Pastoral Council this fall. This all-volunteer body advises Fr. John Dillon, the pastor of our church, on many issues affecting the parish, including facilities, growth plans, and provision of services. Currently, there will be seven vacancies on the Pastoral Council for the term that starts January 1, 2018, and ends December 30, 2020. If you are a registered parishioner of St. Francis of Assisi who is 16 years or older, can commit to attending near-monthly meetings, and are committed to making decisions for the good of the parish, then you are qualified to be a candidate. The Pastoral Council is particularly interested in having young people in their 20s and 30s serve, so they can reflect the interests of young adults and young families in our parish.

The deadline to express interest in running for the Pastoral Council is October 1. If you are interested in submitting your name as a candidate, contact Pastoral Council Co-Chairmen Alicia Church at alicia.church@collaborationcouncil.org and Miguel Welanetz at welawhat@msn.com.
